

Information and training on pesticide application

Organisation

The International Pesticide Application Research Consortium (IPARC), Imperial College, London

Summary description of the site

This site has been developed to promote better selection and use of pesticides (applying safer agents more efficiently). This DropData site provides:

- Technical information on nozzles, sprayers and other aspects of pesticide application techniques
- Strategies of Responsible (rational) Pesticide Use
- Lectures, presentations and down-loadable utilities and linkages with other web pages promoting these aims.
